KING LOUIS OF BAVARIA has committed suicide by drowning his sorrows in a lake.
The coroner's inquest will probably determine whether WAGNER'S opera or the bill collectors are most responsible for his sad fate.

The appointment of Judge HAWKINS of Missouri to a high position in the Interior Department is not receiving such unanimous endorsement in Missouri as in the Western Union Telegraph building in New York.

"TRUE union is to be tested by the uniformity of the human beings united."
This sentiment from Mr. GLADSTONE'S manifesto affirms an axiomatic truth which powerful nations learn by degrees and with reluctance.

The latest sensational report about the President is that he baits with angleworms when fishing for trout, and spits on his hook for luck after the manner of creek-bank fishermen in sequestered backwoods neighborhoods. This is a reflection on Mr. CLEVELAND'S skill as a holiday angler; but it may serve to throw some light on the subject of his marvelous luck.

For the third time within a year, the deficiency in our municipal inspection of buildings has been illustrated by the fall of an old building into an adjacent excavation. If the present system of inspection is a failure, it might be a good idea to turn over a part of its duties to the policemen on their respective beats.

ST. LOUIS scored a signal sporting triumph on Saturday when GAUDAUR, backed by the enthusiastic ST. JOHN, pulled the championship from the strong hands of TREMER. Not only is GAUDAUR fairly entitled to call himself the champion of carmen, but ST. JOHN may also claim to be the champion among the backers of that manly exercise.

The prospects of the drama in America have been materially improved by the recent intelligent action of the Chicago theater managers. In that city Sunday performances will no longer be given in the first-class theaters, and a weekly dead-head list of $,000 will be cut off by the suppression of the shop-window advertising. These are two notable improvements and should be adopted universally.

MR. GLADSTONE'S manifesto shows a rare ability to say exactly the right thing and to avoid all extraneous and irrelevant matter. The one issue upon which an appeal is taken to the constituencies is briefly set forth with perfect plainness and freed from all misstatement and misconception. The one issue is Home Rule; and when that is finally settled in Parliament other necessary legislation will be taken up.

THE New York Tribune advises Mr.
DORMAN B. EATON to keep away from Washington "if he does not desire to become acquainted with a horse-whip or a vigorous boot." It is assumed that such a reception would await Mr. EATON as a befitting return for a certain offensive communication sent to Mr. RANDALL, which sets forth the alleged manner in which interested Congressmen procure places for their pretty lady friends. It is possible that Mr. EATON deserves some sort of rebuke or chastisement; but it is rather startling to find the newspaper suggesting the cowhide or the heavy boot as the instrument of torture best suited for the emergency. The antecedents of the Tribune would seem to call for a more pacific and humanitarian spirit. Its ebullient ferocity and "swash-buckler" threats are calculated to arouse the fears of its readers, who respect the traditions of the paper no matter how strongly they may condemn its present policy and management. It is generally supposed that the horsewhip should be reserved for the tattooed barbarians of the unregenerate South.

THE absurdity of hereditary rulership is strikingly illustrated in the spectacle now presented by the Bavarian monarchy.

The reigning king of that country for the past ten years has been notoriously a crazy man, the son of a line of illustrious madmen. His brother was confined in an asylum for imbeciles. His father had to vacate the throne on account of intellectual deficiency. His grandfather's reign was an orgy of lust and freakishness until the people rose and drove him and LOLA MONTEZ, his mistress, into exile. The king who drowns himself yesterday because an uncle of doubtful sanity had been designated as regent, has been receiving over a million dollars a year as the crowned head of the Bavarian Government, when in fact he was doing nothing but squandering vast sums of money, bankrupting the crown with his hobbies and amusing the civilized world with his antics. A man whom an American county court would not have permitted to control an estate of $5,000 was permitted to figure as the sovereign ruler of an important German Kingdom, when he was so crazy that he would not let any woman except his mother speak to him, and bawled her to one brief interview every month. So stupidly strong was the old superstitious reverence for "the Lord's anointed" that the scepter was not wrenched from this madman's hands until the influence of all the royal families in Europe was exerted to rid monarchy of the shameful spectacle. A baboon properly crowned, decorated and caged would not be much worse than any King Bavaria has had or can get out of her royal family.

IF, as Senator SHERMAN contends, the Northern Pacific's title to land grant vests as each mile is completed and Congress has no power to divest the grantees of any land continuous with the completed portions of the road, an act declaring all such land forfeited when the road was not completed within the time specified by the grant, cannot possibly do any harm, as the Supreme Court will certainly sustain a legally vested title and pronounce the act ultra vires and void.

But Senator SHERMAN'S argument only begs the question. It is for the Supreme Court to decide that question, and without a declaration of forfeiture by Congress the question cannot be submitted to the courts. In the meantime the advocates of the declaration and re-entry seem to have the best of the argument where they contend that no legal estate could pass and no title be vested when there had been no complete fulfillment of the conditions of the grant.
The time within which the road was to be completed was one of the essential conditions of the grant, an act of legislation which has never been repealed or amended by Congress, that body having repeatedly refused when asked to extend the time for the completion of the whole line beyond 1878. The plain duty of Congress is to submit this question to the Supreme Court in the only way in which it can be submitted—by passing the act of re-entry.

THE wise man sketh not his substance on an adversary's tip.

NOW FOR THE staggering disillusioning that lurks in the festive sea bath.

ANATIAS was unshakably flourishing before the days of stenographers.

THE English elections are useful in enabling farmers to utilize their eggs that fall to hatch out.

THE hospitable American restaurant still yawns and yearns for the exiled European Prince.

IT will be a frosty day when the Chicago police authorities succeed in ruling the reporters off the track.

MR. IONATIS DONNELLY should be engaged to prove that Mr. BLAINE'S speeches were written by a stenographer.

MARY ANDERSON will not repudiate SHAK-SPERE'S plays, even if it is proved that they were written by FRANK BAACON.

IF old ROBERT WILLIAMS could appear again in Rhode Island he would not be allowed to vote on account of his poverty.

THE Republican candidate for Governor of Maine is a granite contractor and proposes to make things rocky for his opponents.

SOME people are asking this tough coun-drum: "Will the Republican party nominate for President any one of the 'solid eleven' who voted against the anti-free pass railroad bill?"

PEOPLE who deny that an elephant can dance the "Highland fling" should reconsider the matter when they learn that TOMMY KIRK of Maine has become the funny man of Congress.

Blackguard Innuendoes.
Dorman B. Eaton's Open Letter to Hon. S. J. Randall.

That you are well prepared to make the most of such a device, you have made clear.
Your ingenious but futile efforts to get the charming Mrs. P. into the service, plainly hinting that the passing of the examination would be quickly followed by her appointment, to say nothing of other cases, is quite decisive.
With your proviso in force, she and every pretty woman especially interesting to a member, and every electioneering agent in the country with an influential Congressman pushing behind, would soon get a place. It is astonishing how much trouble some members will take to help certain women to places, especially if they are pretty. They bring them over to the Commission to suggest that they have been too severely marked and to say they ought to be allowed to try again. There had a Senator (but no longer a Senator) come to me three times in one day in behalf of such a woman. It is but just, however, to state that, with relatively few exceptions, members of Congress have withstood solicitation and repudiated the public interest.

Too Much Gould.
From the St. Joseph Gazette.

We reiterate an opinion heretofore expressed that President Cleveland will not make much headway in uprooting abuses in the Interior Department by drawing on Jay Gould for undersecretary. And we suggest again that if Senator Cockrell will permit the census of this commonwealth he may find there names not found on Jay Gould's pay-roll worthy of favorable consideration when offices are to be filled. And in conclusion we opine that Jay Gould's lawyer, Hawkins, could have been displaced with in the Interior Department without disadvantage to the public welfare.
And that Senator Cockrell rendered a doubtful service to his State, to his country and the President when he made this bid for the support of the Gould combination.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS.
What the Editors of the New York Journals
Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 14.—THE WORLD says:
"The supposition that Mr. Winston, late Minister to Persia, has secured from the Shah a good thing in the way of a concession and contract to build railroads is, perhaps, not absolutely correct. Several efforts have been made by that potentate to induce outside capitalists to accept the same favors, but the latter, on a careful survey of the situation, have declined them, not that the remuneration is insufficient, but that the Shah is not very particular about living up to his obligations. He is one of those potentates who who rise above any little anxieties as to the payment of debts, and he changes his august official mind when the reason for doing so seems sufficient to himself."

THE SUN.
The Sun says: "It is the right to see the Republican party, which a generation ago was not afraid to be a minority when it thought it was in the right, and how patently it is with a great public question, and breaking it nearly in two in its frantic efforts to be prohibited enough to get the Prohibition vote without dropping the anti-Prohibition vote."

THE TIMES.
The Times says: "Mr. Gladstone's manifesto is a masterpiece of eloquence and force. It is an eloquent appeal, has the virtues of simplicity and directness. His purpose is clearly summed up in the first sentence, and he expresses the hope that his constituents will cast away all delusions, refuse evil and choose good. The manifesto is a masterpiece in its iteration of the hard fact that there is no possible alternative to home rule save union."

THE TRIBUNE.
The Tribune says: "The people of Nova Scotia really desire to join the United States.
It is not probable that Great Britain could afford to entertain such a proposition. The day has gone by for coercion in such matters, and the will of the people would doubtless be expressed in the course of the election.
In one sense the political connection between Great Britain and the Province is to British trade an advantage."

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.
Matutinal Roosters.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The man next door has two chickens and three roosters—roosters with regular fog-horn attentions. From day-break until 6 o'clock they are in the act of crowing, and it is impossible for us to sleep on account of the roostery over there. The roostery is so loud that it is impossible to get one night's sleep once again, just to see how it feels.

If ever there was a public nuisance, this henery is one, and as I can't have the cocks crowed up in the night, and as I can't have the next best thing and ask your advice. What would you suggest?
N. L. MAR.

[You might expect an industrious colored man of strict honesty and church membership to clean up your back yard every morning.
This frequently abates the nuisance of cock-crowing. If you cannot do this, you might try to get the roostery to stop crowing, and the cock-crowers to stop crowing. This is the common sense of your neighbor's sufferings will be as poignant as your own.—EDITOR POST-DISPATCH.]
